Blogz Review: Personal Child Stories

Thursday, November 29th, 2007

Personal Child Stories was founded by Australian native Shara Lawrence-Weiss. Shara currently resides in Arizona with her husband and two children.

While earning a degree in Elementary Education, Shara saw a need in many children that she longed to address. So many children in our classrooms today struggle with emotional hurdles, learning disabilities, developmental delays, and so on. No doubt this was always the case, however, the "stigma" has lightened to the point that addressing these issues is no longer taboo. Quite the contrary.

At Personal Child Stories, books can be created for any and every reason, including story-lines that relate to tolerance, acceptance, change and diversity. These personal books containing custom photos are quickly embraced by each child becoming a fast favorite.

Personal Child Stories is currently moving more deeply into the creation of books for Special Needs children, IEP students, and children who would greatly benefit from a book focused not on what is being done wrong but rather on what can be done that is RIGHT.

Each book is laminated and coil bound making them durable, easy to clean, and safe for children of all ages and stages. Books may contain a page on which to write with a dry erase marker in order to practice writing numbers, letters, words, or concepts. Group books can also be created to read to the class as a positive approach to explaining one another's differences.
